Traffic Study Recommends Improvements

Truck By-pass Pushed

A $30,000 traffic study due to be sent city commissioners at any time will ask for $719,600 worth of improvements to city streets if it coincides with the draft given study committee members.

Included in the first draft prepared by Kimley-Horn and Associates are proposals for a truck by-pass system, the four-laning of Main Street, elimination of several traffic signals and synchronization of others and making Avenue A one-way headed west and Avenue B one-way going east.

The study, paid for by the state Governor's Highway Safety Commission in cooperation with the State Department of Transportation and the Federal Highway Administration U.S. Department of Transportation, also calls for off-street parking near or on Main Street.

The off-street parking would be used to compensate for some 40 parking spaces lost when Main Street is four-laned by setting up parallel instead of diagonal parking.

The report noted that although Main Street north of Hillsboro Canal and south of South Avenue E are scheduled to four-lane as part of the SR80, proposed transition plans have been made for Main Street between Avenue A and South Avenue E.

Kimley-Horn suggested four-laning the street by eliminating diagonal parking but said additional off-street parking should be found.

Trucks, according to the plan, would be routed around town on Airport Road, West Canal Street, SR715 and SR80 with connecting feeders on Southeast Avenue B and Southeast Avenue E.

The trucks are broken down into types by referring to them as through trucks, cane trucks and others with local destinations. Only trucks with local destinations would be allowed to use West Canal Street and only local trucks and cane trucks would be allowed to use Main Street in the downtown area.

Tied in with the one-way pair of streets Kimley-Horn proposes Avenue A and Avenue B should form a suggestion that traffic signals be synchronized to allow an even flow of traffic on the two streets.

Avenue A would be one way for traffic moving west from the intersection of Southeast Avenue B and SR80 to the intersection of West Avenue A and Southwest Fourth Street.

South Avenue B would be one-way for traffic going east from the intersection of Southwest Avenue B and Southwest Fourth Street to where it intersects SR 80.

One bottleneck would be removed in the form of the traffic signal at Southwest Avenue B and Southwest Second Street and the study recommends a centrally synchronized system of signals.

While the above major proposed changes would be made, Kimley-Horn also proposed the city update its signalization in other intersections, providing one signal light for each lane of traffic except in intersections where only flashing signals would be used.

The company said funding could come from a variety of sources, including revenue sharing, general obligations bonds, gasoline and cigarette tax and other local revenue.

"Since the 1974 Federal Highway Act has only recently been passed," the report reads, "the Florida Department of Transportation has not yet determined a specific allocation program for funding."

"It is therefore difficult to assess financial responsibility for project implementation at the present time," it reads. "It appears that county and state funds may be available to assist the city in implementing recommended projects."

"It goes on to state that 'it appears' that county and state maintenance forces could handle some of the projects, that some would be accomplished as part of the federal aid secondary system and county funds would be available for still others."

"It should be pointed out, however," the report reads, "that this designation of funding responsibility in no way implies that funding is available."

South Bay Halts New Sewer Connection

With plans being made to televise the inside of South Bay's controversial sewer lines being made, the city commission said Tuesday night no more permits to connect to the system would be issued for the time being.

The city authorized consulting engineer Robert H. Fowler to hire a company to "limp" the lines giving him the power to have at least 40 hours of picture taking done at the rate of $75 per hour.

Fowler said the job would take at least a week and possibly two weeks, running the cost up between $3,000 and $6,000 and he recommended no more connections be made until he has made his report to the city.

Fowler also received permission to excavate certain portions of the line to take pictures of it to use as evidence in the city's upcoming suit against Robert Owens and Associates, the city's former consulting engineers during the construction of the system.

The commission also tentatively decided to pay Alton Goodbread of 425 Canal Street $2,000 for right of way and damages to his property, with a final decision to have been made Wednesday night.

Goodbread has for the past two years been trying to get the city to pay him for sewer line and a manhole installed on his property. There was apparently a mixup at the time of the installation and LaGrow Construction Co. apparently thought the city had an easement.

Goodbread asked at the time for a total of $600 for the easement and the damages. LaGrow at one point promised Goodbread the damages would be repaired but Goodbread and Commissioner Neal Mayo said nothing was ever done.

Goodbread told the commission Tuesday he would give two weeks before swearing out a warrant for trespassing but agreed to Commissioner O'Neal Walker's proposal to pay him $2,000.

The commissioners said,

however, they wanted to find what City Attorney Allen

Everard, who wasn't present at the time, had to say about the matter and said a definite decision would be made Wednesday.

In another matter, City Clerk Virginia Walker informed the commission a scholarship had been created at the University of Florida College of Agriculture in the name of the late city resident John S. Stewart II.

Stewart, before his death, acted as an advisor to the city during the construction of the sewer project and had for years been employed by FHA as an engineer.

"The purpose of the fund," Stewart's widow wrote, "is to provide financial assistance in the form of scholarship awards to students enrolled in one of the curricula offered by the College of Agriculture."

"We, his family," she wrote, "are grateful for the contributions that have been made and for those that may be made in the future. We all feel this is a fitting tribute to John for we all remember how he loved young people, how loyal he was to his University of Florida and his dedication to service through agriculture and life in general."

A Piece of Cake

It was a piece of cake Monday when Mrs. Jean Heidman came to the Belle Glade Library to show a group of local women how to decorate cakes...the fancy way. Mrs. Heidman is well-known throughout the county for her cakes for special occasions and Mrs. Jan Suttle to show the group of Glades women how it's done.

City Hall Is Dead!

With little discussion and no fanfare plans for a $1.35 million Belle Glade City Hall complex were shelved and possibly killed Monday night during the city commission meeting.

City Manager William Mallory reminded the commissioners the extension for accepting or rejecting the sole bid for the project ran out that night and the commission voted to reject the bid.

Commissioner Bill Bailey moved that since Beau Builders, Inc.'s joint bid with Continental Consolidated Corp. was the only bid and it was so much higher than the $600,000 price tag estimated by Miami architect Homer F. Daniel, the bid should be rejected.

He also moved, and the commission approved, the commission meet with Daniel to discuss the plans and what should be the city's next step.

Should the city decide not to go ahead with the plans, it would still presumably owe Daniel $36,000 in architect's fees for the work he's done on the proposed complex so far.

The complex would have included a new city hall, designed as a square with a "pod" on each corner, which would have had a patio, parking areas and modifications to the existing library.

Also included in future plans, but not bid on yet, were a new Chamber of Commerce building and a new fire station.

Father Ringland Dead at 60

The Rev. Edmund M. Ringland, D.D., died early Wednesday morning after a short illness at Glades General Hospital.

Father Ringland was Rector of Church of St. John the Apostle, Belle Glade and Church of the Holy Nativity, Pahokee, since 1971.

The family has asked that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to the St. John Building Fund.

Dr. Ringland was formerly Dean of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, Springfield, Ill. and also Dean of the Cathedral in the Diocese of Lord du Lac, Wisconsin. He also served as Rector of St. John's Church, Decatur, Ill. for 10 years.

Father Ringland was born in Boone, Iowa and graduated from the Marshalltown, Iowa High School. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa and his Bachelor of Sacred Theology from Seabury-Western Theological Seminary, Evanston, Ill.

In 1960 Cornell conferred a Doctor of Divinity degree in recognition of Fr. Ringland's contribution to the Church in the midwest.

Father Ringland was a member of the Executive Board and chairman of the Communications Committee of the Diocese of Southeast Florida.

Father Ringland's survivors include his wife, Betty and son Timothy of Belle Glade; daughter Mrs. Beverly Richard of Beloit, Wisconsin; a son John of Bonnier City, La.; son David of Decatur, Ill.; four grandsons and three granddaughters.

Father Ringland will lie in state in the Church of St. John the Apostle on Thursday, Oct. 17, and Friday Oct. 18. A Requiem Mass will be celebrated by the Bishop of the Diocese, Rt. Rev. James L. Duncan on Saturday, Oct. 19 at 10 a.m. Interment will be in West Palm Beach.

Spaghetti For Cancer

A spaghetti dinner put on Saturday as a fund-raising drive for the American Cancer Society by the Belle Glade Lions Club brought over more than 200 pasta lovers.

Charles Ward, who headed up the effort for the local Lions, said he hadn't tallied up the profits yet but more than $500 had been raised by the Lions.

The Lions put on the dinner to fulfill a pledge they made to the Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club earlier this year.

A crowd of about 300 people showed up Tuesday afternoon for a barbecue honoring U.S. Senate Candidate John Grady. The crowd ate barbecue, listened to patriotic and religious songs and cheered on their candidate.

Requiescat in Pace

Funeral services were held Monday evening for a proposed $1.358 million city hall complex. Belle Glade City Commissioner Bill Bailey dealt the coup de grace to the complex when he moved that the commission reject the sole bid for construction of what would have been a monument to absurdity.

It would have been nice to go ahead with plans for the city hall and see it built. It would have been quite and eye-catcher as far as city halls go; something really different. But with the financial backaches the city is already suffering from an inadequate (at least by Department of Pollution Control standards) sewer system, the need for modifying the water system and the upcoming relocation of city utility lines to allow the four-laning of SR80, it's a luxury we can't afford.

The complex death knell was sounded as soon as the city found what the cost would be...half again the amount estimated by architect Homer F. Daniel. Too many people knew we couldn't afford that kind of price tag.

The only question was how long it would take a-dying and that was answered the other night. This is one demise we don't mourn.

Requiescat in pace.

Whoops!

Dear Sirs:

It was with some surprise that I read in your paper, in the Crisis Line article, that I am a nun on leave of absence to work with Crisis Line. I'm happy to report nothing could be further from the truth. For the past 28 years, I've been a member of a Franciscan Community from Joliet, Illinois. About 7 years ago, as a result of Vatican II, our Community gave us an option in our selection of clothing as well as our type of work. Because of this option, I do dress in lay clothing and I am employed by Crisis Line with the full blessing of my Religious Congregation.

I am proud and happy to be a Religious today and I look forward to many more years serving people on Crisis Line and working with the great people I've met here in West Palm Beach and Belle Glade. I hope you will find space in your next issue to print the above information so my many friends will not think a change has been made in my status.

Thanking you sincerely,
 I remain,

Channel Rivalries

Encourage your children to settle disputes between themselves. Be fair but firm, and don't let them set you up as arbitrator in every argument. When children need adult help in their relationships, it calls for someone with understanding and willingness to take time and trouble; in short, you!

You can turn sibling rivalry into constructive channels with engrossing games of skill, such as those of Odyssey, which lets your children compete electronically in games transmitted over your television set. The electronic game center from Magnavox attaches to any brand TV, 18 to 25-inch, black and white Allooooo Riigghhhhttttt!!!!!!

 So it wasn't the Super Bowl. But it was one whale of a ball game.

My team finally came through with a victory over the Dolphins. I've been waiting two long years for this.

You cannot guess how much guff I have been taking the past two years over the column I wrote about Super Bowl VII.

For those of you who weren't here, or have forgotten (let chance of that) I predicted two years ago that the Redskins would whip the Dolphins in the Super Bowl by 10 points. As history now reports—that was a bad prediction. If I had taken even only half the heat I was asked to take I would have still been in debt.

Just in case you haven't heard—the Redskins came from behind with only 16 seconds left on the clock and whipped the Dolphins this past Sunday, 20-17. But I'm not going to rub it in like you guys did to me two years ago. Well, maybe just a little.

One thing you can be sure of though—I'm certainly going to wear my new Redskins sweatshirt my mommy sent me this past weekend with great pride. And I'm going to wear it often too.

here, but it is not in evidence. Somehow the job needs to be done—and done in a hurry. Or else one of these days somebody is going to be attacked by a pack of these dogs and doing something then will be like shutting the door after the horses are all out. Government in the sunshine is a loosely worded phrase which all too often is abused. Basically what it means is that any decision made by a public board and any discussion thereof, shall be made in front of the press and any other interested person if they so desire to be there.

With so many 5-4 votes in the past for different mayors of Belle Glade it has been quite obvious that the decision thereof, shall be made in front of the press and any other interested person if they so desire to be there.

Of course, this isn't to say Belle Glade is the only city that does such a thing. Most boards like to present a solid front in such matters as chairman and mayors. The only thing is, they are

I pulled up to The Herald office the other evening shortly before 8 p.m. to pick up some work to take home with me. I started to get out of my car, but the sight which greeted me made me hesitate and ask myself if that was a wise thing to do.

There, right on Main St. was a pack—there was no other word for it—a pack of seven dogs trotting down the street. Some of them had collars and looked halfway decent, some of them were mangy and dirty—as if they hadn't had a proper home for quite some time.

I've run across this in broad daylight as well. More dogs are starting to roam the streets of Belle Glade in bigger and bigger packs.

As far as I know the city has no animal control program. The county is supposed to have one

Mayor of Belle Glade is really an honorary title. Is it worth breaking the law for it? Why not set up a formula for whom will serve in the post and let go at that. For instance, it could be set up so that the person with the most number of years on the commission who has not served as mayor automatically gets the job. If everybody on the council has served, then choose the one who was mayor the longest time before.

I don't really think it is worth flaunting the law to choose the man who is going to run the meetings and speak at one or two official functions during the year. The only question it brings up in mind is, if they will make decisions outside the sunshine on such an unimportant matter, what else will they try to decide in the shade.

One Maroon Machine that Didn't Make It

A funny thing happened on the way to the football game and the state AAA championship.

Actually, it wasn't so funny, and if you get right down to it, it wasn't a funny thing, it was two or three disasters.

Take me for example. I don't know why anyone would want to but do it anyway. Certainly, Dave Campbell showed darn good sense when he didn't.

Dave, according to Glades Central Athletic Director Graham Frost, was looking for a ride to the game between the Raiders and the St. Pete Catholic Crusaders (why do so many parochial schools pick the name Crusaders?) and I offered to give him a lift.

Dave was supposed to call me back but never did, so I just assumed he had found his own way getting to St. Pete so I set off with all good intentions of covering the game.

I never made it. Got all the way to the Sunshine Skyway but I knew I was in trouble before I hit the rise on the main span. Before I made the top, there was serious doubt the old buggy would make it over the crest but it did and I coasted several miles until I only had about 14 more miles to go when the engine died completely and I'd coasted to a stop.

Ily trying to keep oncoming traffic from bulldozing the hulk on down the bridge.

I wouldn't have believed it was so hard to get drivers to see a five-cell flashlight when you throw the beam right into their faces trying to get them to veer around you and your car.

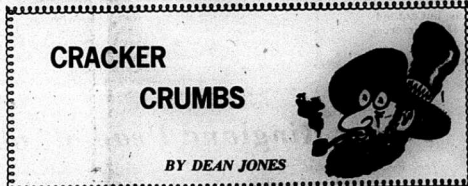

And get somebody to stop? Forget it! I never did claim to bear any resemblance to Robert Redford but the way those people were acting, I had to look in a mirror later to see if I really looked like the Creature from the Black Lagoon.

Anyway, after waiting for about 17 hours and jumping on to the way of about 34 kamikaze pilots, here come the po-leece, the fuzz and he pushed me off the bridge and called a wrecker (come to think about it, he never got out of his cruiser.)

Then there was that interminable wait for the wrecker to show up. For any of you unfortunate enough to ever get caught where I did, disregard your road map. You might think that once you hit the Sunshine Skyway you're near St. Pete.

Taint so, you've still got another 198 miles and 14 bridges to cross before you're off the causeway and into the city of green benches; make it another 20 miles anyway.

Anyway, it was about 9:30 before we pulled into the service station, with about another 15 minutes or so left in the game and

I figured, fergit it, there ain't no way of covering this one.

Guy by the name of Coy was the one who worked on my bomb and he was living proof you can't judge a book by the cover.

Coy (I never even asked his last name) looked much like just about any mechanic you've seen...stained work clothes, grease-resistant boots, blackened fingernails no amount of scrubbing would get out and I don't believe his face had made the acquaintance of a razor for a couple of days.

Be that as it may, he was a pretty good mechanic and while he was working, we got into a discussion that soon included Drake and another mechanic whose name I don't recall.

Like most discussions these days, the talk finally got around to the economy, inflation, prices and the like. That's when he came into his own.

Turns out Coy knew more about the stock market than anyone standing there. He was reeling off prices and what different stocks had done over the years and he finally admitted owning "a few shares."

Now, I know just enough about the stock market to not mess with it. Not that I'm against investing but I do believe you ought to know a little about what you're tying your money up in and I've just never got around to studying the market.

I missed the game entirely and when I glanced at the front page of a newspaper the next day, I didn't even bother to buy it.

There were several scores on the front page and when I saw the head, "Crusaders-30 Glades-0", I didn't even bother buying one. That didn't help matters at all and it wasn't until Monday morning that Al Werneke told me the paper was wrong and the Raiders won after all.

Glad to hear someone had some luck that wasn't bad.

God knows, I got sick enough hearing what was happening in another game Saturday. That was the disaster overwhelming my Gators at Vanderbilt.

I won't go so far as to say I was convinced the Gators could go all the way this year but I did figure that if they could get past Auburn, they stood a chance.

But Vanderbilt? And not just to win by a fluke but beat the pants off the gators...

Oh well, wait till next year.

 How about the coverage Dr. John got in the Palm Beach Post Sunday. I knew Marilyn Alva and Guy Ferrell were following him around for a few days and I figured they'd be on the job up brown...but that was good coverage.

Ruthanna Vass, one of John's campaign workers, was in the office last week and we were talking about the coverage he's been getting and as we brought up then, there are advantages and disadvantages in having no primary opponent.

The advantage, of course, is you're not going broke campaigning against someone just to get to the Nov. 5 general election. The disadvantage is that since there's no competition, the news media doesn't spend very much time on you, with the result you come into the general election a possible unknown.

That hurts.

Dateline History

Wanted by 'Robin Hood'

By Jerome Turk & Edw. Walsh

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14, 1774 - The noble language & lofty sentiments of the Declaration of Rights were approved Congress today. Strangely enough, the document was drafted by a wanted man.

The price on the land of this delegate to the first continental Congress wasn't put there by the British. It was levied half in jest by a six-foot, six-inch tall 36-year-old colonial Robin Hood who commands five merry companies of rugged Green Mountain Boys. When the reward was posted two years ago in Connecticut newspaper, here's what it said:

25 POUNDS REWARD

Whereas James Duane & John Kemp of New York, have, by their Menaces and Threats, greatly disturbed the public Peace & Repose of the honest Peasants of Bennington, and the Settlements to the Northward, which Peasants are now, and ever have been, in the Peace of God & the King, and are patriotic and liege subjects of George the third - Any person that will apprehend those common disturbers, viz. James Duane & John Kemp, and bring them to Land Lord Fay's at Bennington, shall have 15 pounds Reward for James Duane, and 10 pounds for John Kemp paid by

Ethan Allen

Date at Poultry Remember Baker
Feb. 5th, 1772 Robert Coughran

New York delegate James Duane is a plump, congenial, cockeyed chap who has fastidious taste in clothes & money enough to afford gold shoe buckles. But it isn't Duane's wealth that has big, bruising Ethan Allen and his partners in the "Orin River" Land Company up in arms. It's Duane's leadership of the "Yorkers." That's the nickname given to New York land speculators by

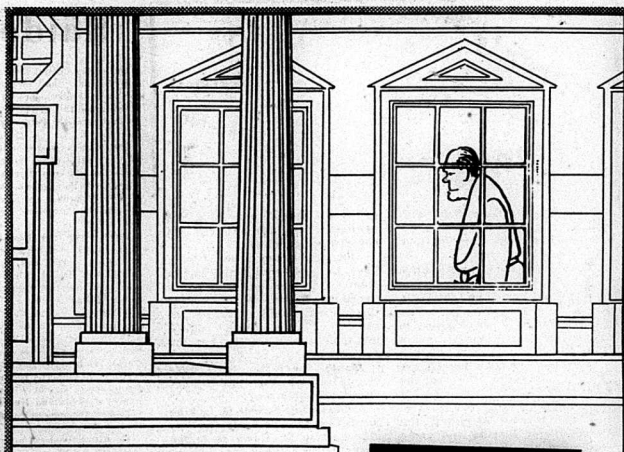

New England settlers. The two groups have fought over the New Hampshire Grants like bulldozers over a bone, each claiming the vast tract of land for itself.

It's true that the New York delegate's eyes are a trifle cocked, but there's nothing cockeyed about his interest in land. The "Grants" - variously claimed by New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Quebec & a couple of Indian tribes - are a tempting parcel.

His enemies suggest that Duane's marriage to Maria "Polly" Livingston 15 years ago had more to do with land than with love. Her father, Robert Livingston, Jr., was already a kingpin among New York landlords. Young Duane, who had founded the settlement of Duaneburgh, soon became embroiled with New Englanders "squatting" on Livingston property. Duane dealt with them artfully, earning the admiration of other New York landlords. Today he is their spokesman, lobbyist, chief legal counsel & a prime candidate for a tar & feather party if ever he falls into Ethan Allen's huge hands in Bennington.

But the Declaration of Rights does no molly-coddling. It frankly states that Americans "are entitled to life, liberty and property," based on both parliamentary & natural law. Though the Declaration's 10 resolutions were hammered and haggled into a final version by committee, Duane's was the guiding hand in the document's construction. The New York moderate differs with the patriot's choice of means to gain equality with the King's English subjects. But the Declaration of Rights makes it clear that Duane shares their sense of injustice.

We suspect that Ethan Allen himself would drink a toast to the Declaration of Rights. The day may come when he & Duane discover they've much to gain by putting rather than knocking their heads together.

Chortle, chortle, guffaw, guffaw, hee, hee... The Year of the Gator may be no more.

I couldn't resist a chuckle when I read last Sunday's sports section of the Miami Herald and the Palm Beach Post Times and saw that the University of Florida lost to Vanderbilt last Saturday by a score of 24-10.

Not that I dislike the Gators (I'd like to see the "Year of the Gator" as much as anyone), but there happens to be two guys in this office who attended the University of Florida and come football season, that's all you hear from them, especially when they talk about "that ole girls' school" up there in Tallahassee riding a 17-game losing streak each week.

This past week "that ole girls' school" almost whipped one of the top college football teams in the country while the Gators were whupped by "Vandy". I'd like to have seen FSU and the University of Florida play each other that day.

Anyway, the Gators will have their pride at stake as they face the Seminoles this Saturday. I know one thing, if the Gators lose, I don't think I'm going to work next week.

Of course my glee didn't last too long. I was on the other end of the stick Sunday as I watched the Miami Dolphins lose to the Washington Redskins 20-17, after a hard-fought game. Gotta admit, even though Miami lost, it was one of the most exciting games I've watched.

What was so bad about the outcome of it though, is that the Redskins are Fearless Leader's team. Here I was, ready to rub it in Monday morning about his college team losing, but I changed my mind fast after that.

Monday morning he told me that he almost decided to wear his Redskin sweatshirt his mother had sent him. But that's okay, Tuesday I would have worn an old FSU football jersey I had stuck in the corner of the closet. (Don't get any ideas, I also have a University of Florida jersey).

Coming back to high school football for a bit, it is interesting to note that the Glades Central Raiders have allowed only six points all season and have not been scored against for 14 consecutive quarters.

Our neighboring school, Pahokee, has allowed only seven points. Tells you something about the Glades teams doesn't it? As of the writing, the Blue Devils are rated No. 2 in the state AA ratings and the Raiders are No. 2 in the AAA ratings.

Could there be two state championships for the Glades area teams this year?

Glades Day School is looking for its first win this Friday as they play host to St. Edwards in the Gators' first home game in three weeks. Hope they get what they want.

Speaking of Glades Day, I've been asked questions lately as to why Glades Day and Belle Glade Christian Day School's football games aren't getting write-ups in the paper.

As you can see we got a story on the Gators this week and if all goes well, we'll have more pieces and information on them in next week's paper.

Our main problem though, in not having any stories on the schools is not being able to get away and cover the games they have. Unfortunately, Belle Glade Christian doesn't even have a game in Lake Harbor this year (Lake Harbor served as their "home field" last year).

Our paper has a small staff so we are limited in what all events we can cover. Poor Dean has to do 99.9 per cent of the coverage and Glenn and I try to take over where he can't possibly make it, although we can't make it either sometimes because of some other responsibility.

Getting back to the original topic, we would be more than glad to put anything in the paper concerning the football teams if anyone would like to bring any information or stories for us to put in. The only reason we have such write-ups on the Raiders is because Coach Werneke from Glades Central brings a story every week. Without him we would be sunk as to stories on the Raider games.

So as I said, if anyone would like to gather any facts about the schools' teams and bring them on down to the Herald, we would be happy to print them.

*Nuff said.

Raiders Go for Three

The Glades Central Raiders rolled to their third straight shutout last Friday night with a hard earned 13-0 victory over the third-ranked St. Petersburg Barons.

The Raiders wasted little time in putting points on the board as Anthony Parrish intercepted a Barons pass on the St. Pete 31-yardline and raced down to the Barons nine yard line.

Three plays later Howard Moore bucked over left guard for three yards and the touchdown. David Kinlaw converted and the Raiders took a 7-0 lead.

No effective was the Super Bad Raider defense in the first half that St. Petersburg Catholic only had two first downs. The hard charging line composed of Cornelius Brown, David Jones, Calvin Willis, Ernest Jackson and Hudall Collier kept the pressure on the Barons all night long.

The tough Raiders in the secondary only allowed the St. Pete Catholics one completion in eight attempts. David Kinlaw picked off two passes and Anthony Parrish picked off the third one.

Meanwhile Rigo Ruiz was hitting on five out of ten passes good for 36 yards and no interceptions. Howard Moore was the leading ball carrier rushing for 45 yards in 13 carries.

Rigo Ruiz rushed for 51 yards in ten carries and Alexander Brown scored a fourth quarter touchdown and rushed for 39 yards in 11 carries. Anthony Burger rushed for 34 yards in nine carries.

The Raiders showed a balanced running attack. They made their best drive of the year, moving the football from their own seven yard line to the St. Pete Catholic three yard line before a fumble broke up the drive.

Steel-belted Silent Guard. Two layers of steel cord this tire's significant layer to have when you run over a pothole or rock. Steel resists cuts better than any other belting materials. Belts work with the plies to keep tread stable and a stable tread wears better than a squirming one. Polyester won't flat spot like nylon can. Wide "78 Series" design is like most new car tires—long and heavy. See Guarantee on opposite page.

Rounding End and Away We Go!

Hill Thompson of Glades Day School eludes tacklers on an end around Friday night. Unfortunately it was one of the few things which went right for the Gators as they fell to a tough Moore Haven team, 27-6. While the Gators have yet to win a game this year in four attempts, their first three defeats were by a total of only eight points.

At one time, caterpillars were thought to cure snake bites.

In 315 B.C. someone advanced a theory that gems would move if left in the sun.

In Letter to Culpepper

Wedgworth Calls for No Southwest Rezoning

EDITOR'S NOTE: During the recent controversy over the agricultural land in the southwest part of Palm Beach County and part of Hendry County, George Wedgworth, president of the Florida Sugar Cane League, sent the following letter to the entire Palm Beach County Commission following a tour of the area by Chairman Robert Culpepper.

Since Culpepper's remarks received such wide publicity in other media, we thought it would be only fair to give the league's side of the story.

Mr. Robert F. Culpepper, Chairman, Palm Beach County Commission, Post Office Box 1989, West Palm Beach, Florida.

Dear Commissioner:

We have noted by last night's television news and this morning's papers that following a trip to the Southwest portion of the Everglades Agriculture

Area, you were credited with saying that the tour impressed the group with the need to preserve the area in its natural state and also that you plan to call a meeting of all interested parties to resolve the matter.

You will recall that I wrote to you on this matter on May, 1974, enclosing our statement to the Cabinet on this subject.

We again appeared before the Cabinet this week in behalf of Mr. Waldo Carmichael and other land owners and were successful in helping Mr. Carmichael to secure a permit in two weeks, if a satisfactory solution is not achieved to relieve his problem in that time. However, due to the biased action of Mr. Rusty Ingle, the Cabinet sitting as the Board of Natural Resources continued to ask that the Flood Control District not issue any more permits in this area for a period of 90 days to allow further time for Executive Director, Harmon Shields to convene his group for the purpose of formulating recommendations as to the state policy regarding this area.

We would be very happy to appear before your group in opposition to the change of the agriculture zoning of the Everglades Agriculture Area in Southwestern Palm Beach County; However, we respectfully would like to call the following statement of facts to your attention for your consideration.

1. The Governor and Board of Natural Resources requested Harmon Shields to convene his State Policy Recommendation group to address itself to the future use of this subject area and report back before 90 days from Oct. 2, 1974.

2. The area in question is owned, both by the State and private owners.

3. Several of the private owners who have paid taxes to Palm-Beach County for many years now wish to place their land into the production of food.

4. Reversion of this land to private ownership for conservation and conservation purposes will take large acreages off of the tax rolls of

Palm Beach County.

5. This area has been designated for agriculture use by both the Federal Congress and the State Legislature when the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District was created.

6. The counties of Palm Beach and Hendry have zoned the area for agriculture for many years.

7. The area now abounds with deer which are not indigenous to the area, but have migrated out of other areas, including Conservation Area No. 3, during periods of high water.

8. These same deer will continue to have refuge because agriculture development is conducive to good game management in the area, as evidenced by the deer feeding and having refuge on the fertilized pastures of the Big B Ranch, which is in a similarly situated area in Palm Beach County.

9. The creation of the Flood Control District, in addition to creating the Everglades Agriculture Area, also created a greater land mass (1,105 square miles) of conservation areas that are now used for wildlife management and water fowl preservation.

10. Food is important to the state and nation. Today there is a shortage of certain essential and vital foods, as evidenced by five pounds of refined sugar selling in local stores for $2.13. The best way to bring down this high price is by producing more. The muck soils of Florida in the Everglades Agriculture Area are among the most productive in the world for that purpose.

11. Plans of many of the land owners are to initially place their holdings in the area into pasture, thus relieving other muck soils for sugar production and provide acreage for sugar production in the future when processing facilities for sugar cane are built.

12. The area in question is now hunted by airboat and half-track operators in a manner that many true sportsmen have described as game slaughter in that the deer are hunted down in motorized vehicles, chased to exhaustion and shot or killed by merely throat cutting.

Development of the area would preclude the use of this inhumane killing.

13. Some other groups that are more interested in true conservation and preservation are presently interested in considering a plan whereby the agriculture area could be used for food production and other areas in the State which are of critical concern could be saved by private purchase of those areas to be then deeded to the State for exchange for State land in the Agriculture Area.

14. The area in question needs to be saved from wild fires and fires purposely set by deer hunters by placing it under water management and close care and supervision. The best way to do so is by placing it into the hands of the State as agriculture production, as evidenced by the fact that the great Everglades muck fires of the past in Palm Beach County do not occur anymore where water management has taken place with agriculture development. The uncontrolled muck fires in the Everglades now occur South of Palm Beach County, except in the undeveloped area under question.

15. The writer of this letter does not have any personal financial interest in the lands in question, but has volunteered his time to protect the integrity of the Everglades Agriculture Area for food production.

16. The Chairman of the Palm Beach County Commission is a member of the Policy Recommendation Committee under the Chair of Harmon Shields. Hopefully, it will be convened promptly.

After citing the above facts, we ask that the question of changing of zoning in this area not be considered and that any action affecting this area be postponed until the State Cabinet has had the opportunity to consider the overall matter and establish State Policy.

With Kind regards, I remain, Sincerely, George H. Wedgworth, President

Boy Scouts Set Leaders Meeting

The Gulf Stream Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a course for all leaders of Scout troops from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 19, at St. John's Episcopal Church in Belle Glade.

This training, known as Phase II of the Scout Leader Development Program, is the "outdoor experience" part of the course for scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and other leaders in Scouting.

Phase I, the "Orientation" program of tapes, will be conducted Friday night from 7 to 9 p.m. at the church, according to Earl Hartman, district scout executive. This is for all leaders who have not had or finished this part of the program.

The outdoor program will include such skill training as required to make leaders competent in overnight camping, cooking and hiking; prepare the leader for his role as a coach-counselor with boy leaders, and introduce the "manager of learning" techniques of Scouting, Hartman said.

A third course, known as Phase III or the "overnight experience" will be conducted in November. This will include adult and boy leaders in a 24-hour learning situation.

Course scoutmastering will be Jack McLaughlin of Lakewood. Instructors are Billy Abernathy and Glenn Bair of Pahokee.

Blood Pressure Checks Are Free

Free blood pressure checks will be made Monday at the Florida State Employment Office on SR715 in Belle Glade by the Palm Beach County Health Department.

The tests will be given from 9:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Friedella Bostock of the health department said the tests are painless and they are offered as a service of the department.

"If you are over 18," she said, "there is a one-in-seven chance of having high blood pressure. These tests are a service of the health department, in cooperation of the American Heart Association and the Palm Beach Medical Society."

New Man at Grants

William (Bill) Aicher has taken over as the new manager for W. T. Grants on Ave. A in Belle Glade. Aicher, an Army veteran, has been with Grants for the past five years. He comes to the Belle Glade store from Hollywood where he was an assistant manager. Aicher replaces Carl Scott who had been the Grant's manager for the past 18 months. Scott has moved to Homestead to manage Grant's store in that south Florida city.

Former Belle Glade Resident Is Missing

Judi (Maki) Martin, 29, has been missing since Wednesday, Sept. 25, when she walked from a Doctors Office in Cortland, New York. She is 5 feet two inches tall, and weighs 110 pounds. She has brown hair and brown eyes. She was wearing a light blue blouse, pants and jacket.

Mrs. Martin has been under psychiatric care and it is urgent that she be located. She had previously been employed in the Palm Beach area before moving to Cortland, N. Y. A reward has been offered for information leading to her safe return. Persons with information may call 607-753-9893.

FORMER TEACHER
...missing a month

Judith Maki Martin was a 1st grade teacher at Belle Glade Elementary from 8:48 to 6:49.

'Skipper' Chuck Delights Youths

The Glades Central Gym was a den of happy sounds and voices Saturday October 12, as the children awaited the arrival of Skipper Chuck. The Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club would like to extend its warmest appreciation to all the children, mothers and fathers for their patience in what turned out to be a rather long wait for the arrival of the Skipper Chuck Gang. The troop had car trouble and did not arrive until 2:15.

The program, when underway, was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Skipper Chuck sang several songs accompanied by Doris Bernhardt on the accordion. The antics of Scrubby, Skipper's sidekick, had everyone laughing, especially when Daria gave him a lesson in how to spell his name. Several children from the audience participated in a balloon popping game and stuffing snakes in a can, for which they won prizes. The children who tried to stump Scrubby with a riddle unsuccessfully received a pie in the face. A member of the Junior Woman's Club then presented Scrubby with an award—a pie in the face, of course.

Skipper Chuck closed with his theme song "Peace, Love and Happiness." The Club sincerely hopes this delightful program made up for any inconvenience encountered prior to the program.

GOP Will Host The Candidates

The Glades Republican Club will sponsor a Meet the Candidates Night, featuring U.S. Senate candidate Jack Eckerd Friday, Oct. 18 at the Belle Glade Country Club.

"We have invited all Republican state and county candidates to attend and speak briefly to the group," Club President Robert Pease said. He said Eckerd will be the featured speaker.

A cash bar will open at 7 p.m. and a buffet dinner will be served at 7:45 p.m. Tickets are $7 per person and are available at Republican headquarters or at the door.

"Attendance is limited to 200 people," Pease said. "Make reservations prior to Oct. 15 by calling Republican Headquarters at 996-9696 or Jan Pease at 996-5007."

Pease also issued an appeal to all Republicans in the Glades to support party candidates by studying their qualifications, talking to friends and relatives, using bumper stickers, contributing to campaign funds and assisting in getting out the vote.

He said the Republican Headquarters at 68 Southeast Ave. E is the focal point for all area activities and urged party members to "drop in and visit with Bea Wood, our Headquarters Manager, or call her at 996-9696 and volunteer your services."

He said office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Lake Okechobee Audubon Society will meet in Belle Glade at the Agricultural Research and Education Center on Thursday, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m.

Mr. Thomas P. McElroy Jr., author of the book "The Habitat Guide to Birding," will be the speaker. If you enjoy birds this should be most informative and helpful. The more you understand birds the more of them you see everyday. All are welcome.

Vandegrift Honored

Ray Vandegrift, Jr. of agricultural industry. The Association's president, L.A. Masters of Hastings, cited a long list of service and accomplishments by the recipient which included chairman-ship and membership of several prominent committees, advisory organizations with the University of Florida and the Department of Agriculture and numerous other groups involved in Florida agriculture.

Practical Learning

Glades Central High School Agricultural Instructor Sam Lovell (far right) demonstrates to his class how to go about butchering a cow as part of the class curriculum in learning about the care of animals. Under Lovell's supervision, the students did much of the work towards getting the beef ready for the freezer.

Republicans Hold Candidate Night

The Glades Republican Club will sponsor a Meet the Candidates Night, featuring U.S. Senate candidate Jack Eckerd as the main speaker, at 7 p.m. Friday at the Belle Glade Country Club.

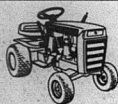

Republican state and county candidates to attend and speak briefly to the group," Club President Robert Pease said. This will be Eckerd's first visit to the Glades and Pease urged local Republicans to turn out and hear what he has to say.

A cash bar will open at 7 p.m. and a buffet dinner will be served at 7:45 p.m. Tickets are $7 per person and are available at Republican Headquarters or at the door. Reservations may be made by calling 996-9696.

Optimismo y Confianza

Un famoso violinista cometo un suicidio, por la simple razón que, no teniendo medios de vivir, tuvo que empujar su violín para poder sobrevivir. Yo creo, para individuos como este el castigo más grande sería el Dios la resucitara y lo mandaría de vuelta a la vida y les haría saber como hubiese desenvuelto su vida y su futuro, si no hubieran tomado esa dramática determinación.

Nuestro artista si hubiera esperado un par de horas más, hubiera encontrado la felicidad. Un empresario de un gran teatro llamo a su puerta para ofrecerle un contrato en su teatro pagándole cinco mil dólares. Hoy en día es casi una enfermedad contagiosa la desesperación.

Fácilmente dicen para mí lo mismo da vivir o morir. La humanidad en general no sabe que hacer en la vida, miles y miles andan como cadáveres ambulantes quienes la guerra ha matado sin que la granada o la bala haya destruido.

Hay personas cuyas conversaciones consisten en quejas, hasta el suspiro es una queja, se me metió en la cabeza que han nacido bajo un signo de desdicha o infortunio y, se hacen la idea que todo el mundo esta en contra de ellos. Por esta razón, todo lo que existe ven con primas oscuras como en un espejo torcido, los pequeños rasguños para ellos es un martirio en dolorito insignificante es un dolor de corazón incurable, las pequeñas desavenencias o discrepancias en la familia lo consideran una tragedia de la familia, y las pequeñas discrepancias o engaños para ellos es el derrumbe de la familia o de la sociedad.

Con razón dice Swift de los pesimistas que, si todo se cumpliera a pedir de boca aun entonces se quejarían; diciendo: porque no llevo eso antes o después, o mas tarde. Soy tan desdichado como una figura de Molier, que si yo fuera soberano, seguramente los hombres nacerían sin cabeza.

La desdicha de la pobreza y de la miseria es precisamente el hecho que acostumbra la gente al infortunio y se reconcilian con ese pensamiento. Y, el que entra en la vida con ese pensamiento; no yo voy a dar pie con bola, esa tal esta fracasado de entemano.

El que se hace la idea que ha nacido bajo un signo de infortunio, para el aunque la suerte se le presente la vida es en una tiza de oro, no lo sabra aprovechar o disfrutar. Los hombres que no ven mas que la parte triste de la vida y no encuentran ninguna alegría o felicidad estos tales viven a espaldas a la luz, se privan de muchos momentos felices, y ellos mismos levantan un muro, no dejando pasar la alegría.

Hay una energía inexplicable en el alma de cada hombre, aparentemente fracasado, o se creen fracasados, y si han naufragado es porque han perdido el valor y la confianza de si mismos. Van Wilt Oscar cuenta que una figura principal de su drama, se queja, porque alguien lo sigue en la noche, pide al sereno que vigile, quien es y que lo agarre; resulta ser que el tipo que lo seguía era su propia sombra.

La vida es un espejo, le refleja la cara con que se mira, si sonreímos sonríe, si miramos con una cara de viernes santo refleja la misma cara. No hay nada en la vida que no tenga su sombra, o su lado brillante, claro está que, todo depende de nosotros lo que miramos. No las cosas, o mejor dicho la vida es oscura, sino nuestros ojos lo ven oscuro, no el mundo es triste sino nosotros queremos verlo triste.

Sucedio que un Señor viajaba de Viena a Budapest con su hijo, que lloraba y sollozaba desde que tomaron el tren. Parecía que no terminaba nunca, sigue y sigue. Los demás viajeros se sentían molestos.

Por aquí por allá empezaron haciendo muecas, y señales de protesta. Una dama de compañía, no pudo aguantar su indignación y disgustó, prorrumpe en palabras hirientes y hace esta pregunta al padre. Por favor haga callar este niño, avá poder dormir y descansar un poco.

Que dira esa madre cuando llega a casa con esos ojos llenos de lagrimas. Al oír esta palabra madre el pobre hombre también empezó a llorar de dolor, y dice: oh con que gusto lo llevaría a casa de la madre le confieso, si ella no estuviera viajando con nosotros amotada en el último carro. Al instante todo el escenario ha cambiado. La simple palabra madre era suficiente para despertar en todos la simpatía el dolor, y la compasión, por estos dos seres dolientes.

Todo el mundo trato sacar del fondo de su corazón las palabras más consoladoras y confortantes, y así mitigar el dolor del padre y del niño. Todos cambiaron actitud momentánea antes les molestaba el sollozo del niño y ahora parecía ser un dulce sonido que despertaba simpatía, y caritas.

Si miráramos a los hombres con simpatía, sus quejas sus penas sus dolores los consideramos nuestras, les haríamos much mas fácil la vida. Goeta decía: no había tanta pena y oscuridad en el mundo si no usáramos toda la fuerza de nuestra fantasía, recordáramos las fúrias y venganzas de nuestro pasado. Se oye decir frecuentemente que, el mal es de mayor duración que el bien.

Es así porque no sabemos disfrutar con animo sereno los momentos de alegría, que la vida nos proporciona diariamente. Esos momentos felices deberían servirnos a sobrellevar los momentos tristes de la vida.

La causa principal de la desdicha es que casi nadie esta conforme con su propia suerte. Las alegrías que por suerte nos vienen a cuenta gotas, no las tomamos en cuenta, y nos olvidamos que existen y se desparanamos como las perlas de una cadena rota. Muchos hombres no saben aprovechar las buenas oportunidades, ni siquiera extienden la mano cuando se les ofrece.

No pasamos al hombre con los refrescos, pide toda clase de bebidas, dulces apalagadoras y bien sabemos que la sed se puede mitigar, solo y únicamente con un vaso de agua cristalina.

El secreto de la vida consiste en no exigir mucho de la vida, porque a nadie se ha dado lo que pensaba y sonaba en su juventud. Por cierto hay momentos de felicidad en la vida, pero no olvidemos felicidad y alegría completa no existe, como tampoco hay sol sin sombra, ni felicidad sin tristeza. Tolstoy escribe en su biografía: cuando joven estaba ansioso de ver todo, disfrutar de todo, sentir todo, en una palabra quiero poseer el mundo entero. El hombre lucha en ese mar agitado de la vida, cuando esa tempestad de mi interior cogio su nivel, me di cuenta que la vida tranquila en mi pecho, la posibilidad de hacer el bien quien lo necesitara, que por cierto es muy facil hacerlo el trabajo útil, los arboles con sus flores, los libros, la musica, el amor a un ser afines a mí, he aquí el concepto de la felicidad.

Un Hago Feliz

El hogar de los esposos Jesus y Maria Matilde Garcia se ha visto bendecido con la llegada de un joven bebe, Natalia, quien nació el pasado día 9 de Octubre en el Everglades Memorial Hospital de Pahokee. Nos regocijamos con ellos esta oportunidad y sinceramente pedimos a Dios que esta nueva bebita con quien les ha bendecido, nazca a este hogar la alegría y la paz que ya sus hermanitos Liza y Jose han traído. "Eternal vigilance is the Price of Liberty"

★★★★ Wendell Phillips 1852 ★★★★★

FOUR FREEDOMS

Freedom of the press; freedom of speech; freedom of religion; freedom of peaceful assembly.

These four freedoms were guaranteed us by the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. We were not guaranteed that no one would try to take them from us. Let us safeguard these freedoms with constant vigilance. SUPPORT AMERICA!

Our precious heritage embodied in the flag of the United States, is as vital today as it was when written for the ages in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. We were not guaranteed that no one would try to take them from us. Let us safeguard these freedoms with constant vigilance. SUPPORT AMERICA!

Our flag is a symbol, not of sentiment, but of history, the history of men and women willing to live and die for it. Study this vigilance with us still, because daily we experience more of the blessings that we owe—men because we are Americans.

Women Officers Installed

Officers of the women of the church were installed in the Morning Worship at Everglades Presbyterian Church, in an Installation Service conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Abe Castor.

In his installation address, Rev. Castor praised the Women of the Church for the historical role they have played in the promotion of the church's program.

Using the scripture, "All these with one accord devoted themselves to prayer, together with the women and Mary the mother of Jesus" (Acts 1:14). Rev. Castor acknowledged that women have been important to the church's life since the days of the apostles.

Rev. Castor acknowledged that that he personally would not be in the ministry, had it not been for the support and encouragement of the Women of the Church when he was called to the ministry.

Reminding the ladies that most of them are old enough to be his mother, Rev. Castor stated that he considered each of them to be his elders; and acknowledged that from time to time he has sought advice and counsel from many of them.

Rev. Castor further stated that the work of the Women of the Church cannot be separated from the total work of the church, and that as officers of the Women of the Church organization, they are also church officers.

BOY---then MAN

That's my son, Jerry, literally two feet off the ground last Saturday in the top half of the ninth. His team was ahead by one run and the bases loaded when he caught the fly that ended the game.

Whatever else good happens to Jerry, I know he'll never forget that sweet thrill of victory.

Years from now, when faced with a tough situation, that memory could be the inspiration for another triumph. The things that happen to a boy do shape the man.

That's why I've always taken Jerry to our church. I want the smell of candles on the altar, the blend of joy and heart in hymn and litany, to be a part of his life. I want for him the joy that comes from understanding God.

My father did the same for me.

How about you?

October is National Hobby Month. The Belle Glade Municipal Library will help to celebrate National Hobby Month by displaying examples of the many types of creative crafts or hobbies that can be learned or improved upon through the multitude of craft books now available.

Do you? Collect coins, stamps, antiques, books.

Assemble? Model airplanes, cars, boats, trains.

Do? Sea shell craft, macrame, needlepoint, bargello.

Work with? Wood, leather, metal, stained glass.

Like? Boating, biking, motorcycling, fishing.

The library has books on crafts and hobbies on both a beginner's level and on an advanced level. These volumes can answer for one the who, what, where, when, and how (how much) of whatever hobby particularly interests one.

Yabs is growing!!

The Young Adult Book Section has recently had added to it over a hundred new "Fun" paperbacks on its revolving Paperback Potpourri rack. The subjects of this Paperback Potpourri bookrack range from the crazy Mad books, rock, pop, and soul, gothic ghosts, a few classics like "Lord of the Flies," to... yoga, karate, and dating guides. New romantic fiction can be found there also, and stories of the Occult.

New also to the Yabs area is the Careers shelf. Most of the books dealing with a particular type of career, such as a chemist, doctor, teacher, radio announcer, etc. have been identified by a spine, label reading Career and are now shelved together on the shelf adjacent to the College Catalogs. These career books can give a patron an idea of what a career may be like (salary expectation, education needed, prediction of future job opportunities, etc.).

Interested in ESP? On Monday and Wednesday evening, October 21, and 23 a free film entitled ESP: The Human "X" Factor will be shown in the library multi-purpose room at 7:30 p.m. for young adults and up. The film makes a visit to the Parapsychology Laboratory at Duke University where Dr. J. B. Rhine, the Chief of the Lab, explains why he is investigating extrasensory perception (ESP) and shows three experimental investigations; one in clairvoyance, psychokinesis and precognition. This is a National Education Television Film.

LONG CORDS - UNSAFE

In New Hampshire recently, a mother was brewing hot coffee in an electric coffee pot on the kitchen table. The lengthy cord stretched along the floor to an outlet on a nearby counter. Unknowingly, her three-year-old tripped on the cord and received permanent burn damage over a large portion of his body from the scalding coffee. According to a recent report from the Department of Health Education and Welfare, thousands of accidents per year are attributed to entanglements in appliance cords.

As a result, Underwriters' Laboratories, the watchdog of the nation's electrical safety codes, revised its standards to provide coffee-makers and other liquid heaters with cords that are a minimum of two feet and maximum of three feet long. This should greatly decrease the number of household burn accidents.

Take a hint: If you're using a cord that's overlong, shorten it for your own safety.
